STANZAS.

BY JAMES WOODHOUSE.

Fuir maiden, go, the world is gay, it's flowers may yet be sweet to thee, And pause not on thy joyous way, To smile on such a wretch as me; For I am but a sickly flower,
Too mournful for the eye of fashion,
And thou, perhaps, might miss thy bower,
By tendering me thy soft compassion.

Go to the dance, the social gice.

Where fashion sports, and bright eyes glare,
Where folly scotts at misery,
And laughing pleasure mocks at care.
The studied bow, the measured grace—
The courtesy of fell deceit
Will bring bright honors to the fice. Will bring bright honors to thy face,
And east its burthen at thy feet.

The viol's sound, and bugle's swell.
Will wake and lift thy sont to Heaven;
And on thee, eyes as soft shall dwell
As sunset, on the haze of even; And thou shall'st stand, a beauteous light, The Aurora of the Northern sky.
And calmly watch the planets bright,
That burn and silent pass thee by.

And tender vows may reach thine ear, And love's soft tale be told unto thee; And sometimes thou may'st glimpse a lear Steal from an eve that's gazing on thee;

And finiterer's voice, with softest tone,
May thatter round thee for an hour,
And fell deceil, and hearts of stone,
May point thee to love's tranquil bower. But, ah! thy fever'd thoughts shall die.
Thy joys shall fade and bring the sorrow,
And all thy golden hopes shall fly

Before the bitter winds, to-morrow. Then, disappointments chilling ring. Will o'er thee brood with sad despair, And sorrow's form around thee cling, Wich sullen envy, hate, and care.

Thy roses all will fade and sear. Thy voice will then no longer charm 'Thy heart will be as lone and drear As barque amidst the ocean's storin; For thou art not a child to please The minions of a silken chain. Whose words will warm, but warm to freeze, The life blood of thy tenderest vein.

And when, perchance, some years are past, And thou look'st back on pleasures gone, Thy thoughts of me will o'er thee cast A grief, like clouds that gloom the lawn; And then, a higher, deeper feeling Will whisper I was ence thy friend,
And warned thee that thy joys were stealing
Toward the goal where pleasures end.

Go on, sweet girl, thy life is yet
The morning of a b anteous day;
Thy hours, with tender dews are wet, And hopes and sunshine deck thy way. Go, seek for pleasure, midst the gay; Go, seek refuge from all sorrow, But mark the pensive poet's lay,
Avoid the griefs which threat to morrow.

WASHINGTON, June 13, 1862. The news from the Valley of Virginia is by no means cheering. But, I am grieved to say, from the report of Union 'The supremacy of the civil over military men in that quarter, we have gained no inthority.' trast in the behavior of the soldiery is really in favor of the rebels. SENATE CHAMBER, June 5, 1862. MY DEAR SIR: Your criticism of the President is hasty. I am confident that, if you knew him as I do, you would not make

Of course, the President cannot be held responsible for the misfeasances of subordinates, unless adopted or at least tolerated by him. And I am sure that nothing unjust or nngenerous will be tolerated, much less adopted by him.

I am happy to let you know that he has no sympathy with Stanley in his absurd wickedness, closing the schools, nor sgain in his other act of turning our camp into a hunting ground for slaves. He repudiates both, positively. The latter point has oc-cupied much of his thought; and the news-papers have not gone too far in recording his repeated declarations, which I have often heard from his own lips, that slaves finding their way into the National lines are never to be re-enslaved. This is his conviction, expressed without reserve. Could you have seen the President—as it was my privilege often-while he was considering the great questions on which he has already scted—the invitation to emancipation in the States, emancipation in the District of Columbia, and the acknowledg-nicut of the independence of Hayti and Liberia—even your zeal would have been satisfied, for you would have felt the sincerity of his purpose to do what he could to carry forward the principles of the Declara-tion of Independence. His whole soul was occupied, especially by the first proposition, which was peculiarly his own. In familiar intercourse with him, I remember nothing more touching than the earnestness and completeness with which he embraced this idea. To his mind, it was just and beneficent, while it promised the sure end of slavery.—

Of course, to me, who had already proposed a Bridge of Gold for the retreating fiend, it was most welcome. Proceeding from the President, it must take its place among the great events of history.

If you are disposed to be impatient at any seeming short-comings, think, I pray you, of what has been done in a brief period, and from the past discern the sure promise of the future. Knowing something of my con-victions and of the ardor with which I main-

Believe me, therefore, you are wrong, and I regret it the more because of my desire to see all our friends stand firmly together.

If I write strongly, it is because I feel strongly; for my constant and intimate intercourse with the President, beginning with the 4th of March, not only binds me pe-euliarly to his Administration, hut gives me a personal as well as a political interest in seeing that justice is done him.

Epauletts.

There is nothing like digging into the past, if you would dissipate romance. Who would have supposed that cpauletts were originally padded protections against sabre cuts? It has often been asked 'What is the use of epauletts?' and also asserted that they are intended to recognize rank. Epauletts originated with the English knights and their retainers, during the crusades to the Holy land. At that period the French and Italian kuights wore costly armor, and the eastern knights were arrayed in a style of magnificence not then known to the English, most of the latter, dressed in uncouth woollen or cotton armor, made a sad appearance among their gaudy and light hearted neighbors. In a short time the English knights in order to protect their shoulders from the keen edge of the Saracen's cimetar, placed thereon pads, stuffed with hair or wool; in a short time, their taste having been improved by association, these pads were ornamented with fringes, taken as the general use of gun powder, the pads with fringes became the modern epauletts.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

offectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will necomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellowcitizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst eases to be found of the following romplaints: --SCROPULA AND SCROPULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, Pumples, Blottones, Tomors, Salt Rheum, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AF-PECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEU-RALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEHILITY, DYS-PEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR Sr. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the time-ly expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul cruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla,

During late years the public have been misled by large buttles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests Are now receiving many new and desirable by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intendtyles in cradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on PRIVATE HETEL, No. 80, WHITE STREET.) NEW YORK, June 9, 1862.

RESPECTED SIR: In April last several gentlemen, some of them natives, and all of them for many years residents of the city of Louisville, in the State of Kentucky, resolved to spend their labor freely, and their means to as great an extent as they could possibly afford in the establishment and publication of a weekly journal, to be exclusively devoted to advocating the gradual emancipation of the 400,000 slaves of that State, under the conditions embodied in the message of the President of the 6th of last March, and adopted by Congress .-Knowing how little assistance they would receive from citizens of Kentucky for such a purpose, but believing that the wealthy friends of freedem in the free States would aid them, these gentlemen appointed the writer (one of their number) to travel in the Middle and Eastern States, and selieit such subscriptions in aid of this purpose as will enable them to disseminate 10,000 cepies of the Kentucky Freeman weekly for one year among she owners of the 400,000 slaves in Kentneky. As a gentleman whose name has been connected with liberal subscriptions the writer has been advised to approach you; but knowing how difficult it is to obtain a personal interview of sufficient duration to enable him to place his business in a proper light before you he adopts this method of not do so in vain. And from the fact that Kentucky did not, by the act of her when reconstruction of the governments of these rebel States takes place, she will maintain intact her original pesition, and thus be enabled to conserve slavery, and will, if no change be effected in the minds of her people, without doubt do so longer than any other State. By so much more, then, is there a crying necessity for the regular puhlication of a journal that by prudent, kind, moderate, statistically correct, and logically argumentative articles will appeal weekly to the better natures of the people, enlighten the public mind, and win it to embrace the views of the Government upon this subject. Having been allowed the privilege of doing so, the writer has the honor of referring you to the following gentleman, who, among others ject of this appeal: Hiram Barney, Esq., Collector of the port of New York; John J. Here we have some very interesting admissions. First, it appears that the people of Kentneky are too slow in this business of abolition: that they are not disposed to subscribe to abolition publications, and that the only way to introduce such reading among them is by gratuitous circulation. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla. so combined with other substances of still grenter alterative power ns to afford an effec. tive antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflieted fellow. eitizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst eases to be found of the following complaints: -SCROFULA AND SCHOFULOUS COMPLAINTS. Enuptions and Enuptive Diseases, Ulcers, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFrections, Mencunial Disease, Dropsy, Nec-RALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DENILITY, DYS. PEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, Rose on Sr. Anthony's Fine, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the bloed at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many runkling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurition bursting through the skin in punples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the bleod. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pahulum of life disordered, there can be no fasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown. Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug nlone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else. During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar, Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sursaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete cradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle. TREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO. LOWELL, MASS.
